

Are you headed in the right direction?

> Let your eyes look straight ahead; fix your gaze directly before you. — Proverbs 4:25

Every leader is already in motion. The question is whether where you're headed is where you want to be.

The Time Machine Test is a vision planning exercise we use with our coaching clients. Quiet the noise of today's emergencies, then mentally fast-forward three years. Picture your business thriving, your culture healthy, and you living in full alignment with your calling.

Our Time Machine Test Guide walks you through it in three steps.

1. The Destination. Capture the big picture of your business and life three years from now, including your culture and daily rhythm.

2. Look back. From three years out, which efforts mattered, what now looks trivial, and what advice would the future you give?

3. The Execution Blueprint. Step out of the time machine and set the goals and daily rhythms that keep you on course: protect what matters, and prune what doesn't.

At Boaz Strategic, we help leaders stay on course toward their destination.
